

A strong European policy to support Small and Medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and entrepreneurs 2015-2020

Public consultation on the Small Business Act (SBA)

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction & background

Since its adoption in 2008, the Small Business Act (SBA) has proven its worth as a policy tool in support of the small and medium enterprises (SMEs). Various initiatives have been taken at both EU and national level to improve the environment in which these businesses operate and help them grow.

It is now time to reflect on what can be done in the years that lie ahead to make life easier for SMEs.

The Commission has drafted a consultation document including the on-going measures and the new proposals (see the link below).

This consultation is designed to collect feedback on the new initiatives set out in the consultation document.

Please read it before you complete the questionnaire.

ENSIE gathers national and regional networks of Social Integration Enterprises, more known as Work Integration Social Enterprises (WISEs). WISEs belong to the social economy sector.

As stated in the Single Market Act "the social economy and social enterprises are key actors in delivering social innovation, inclusiveness and trust".

WISEs, as social economy enterprises in general, put the human being at the core of their system, are non profit companies and promote democratic governance. For their positive impact, WISEs and social economy enterprises should be allowed to operate in the internal market on equal footing with the other forms of enterprise. WISEs that are on average SME need specific legal frameworks which recognize their role of creating paid employment for people disadvantaged in the labour market. WISEs need also an amendment to the definition of Small and Medium Enterprises (SME): in the SME definition there is a clause saying that the SMEs cannot hold more than 25% of the capital or voting rights of another enterprise. Now we point out that several WISEs are started and carried by associations, sometimes big associations, and other social enterprises which reinvest their profits in order to create workplaces for disadvantaged persons. For all this reason ENSIE demands that "the social economy enterprises having integrated the fight against exclusion and poverty in their legal statutes" are included in the list of exceptions to this clause

Traditional financial institutions and funders have become reluctant to fund smaller-scale and interest community-based projects. WISEs have very big difficulties and find high barriers to access capital; for example: very difficult access to loans, the requirements for guaranties are too strict to fulfill... Specific regulation and legislation on access to finance should include criteria for democratic governance, collective ownership and not-for-profit orientation for projects in the social domain.

4.4 Any further suggestions or comments?

WISEs are organizations set up by citizens to serve the general interest of their community and they are linked to the territory. For this reason it's a little complicate to imagine the development of this type of enterprises outside the EU. It could be really useful isf the EC can help to reproduce in other territories the same type of business.

It's important that all these actions releasing entrepreneurial & innovation potential for growth are linked to SMEs but also to specific good practices as WISEs.

Specific measures are needed in order to ensure that knowledge, skills and competences that people have acquired in the workplace are recognized, valued and accepted and this is particularly valuable for WISEs
