

A strong European policy to support Small and Medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and entrepreneurs 2015-2020

Public consultation on the Small Business Act (SBA)

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction & background

Since its adoption in 2008, the Small Business Act (SBA) has proven its worth as a policy tool in support of the small and medium enterprises (SMEs). Various initiatives have been taken at both EU and national level to improve the environment in which these businesses operate and help them grow.

It is now time to reflect on what can be done in the years that lie ahead to make life easier for SMEs.

The Commission has drafted a consultation document including the on-going measures and the new proposals (see the link below).

This consultation is designed to collect feedback on the new initiatives set out in the consultation document.

Please read it before you complete the questionnaire.

Further progress in reducing the administrative burden for small and middle scale enterprises (SMEs) is necessary. The Small Business Act should take into consideration that administration is cost-intensive especially for small enterprises that do not maintain big back offices. This especially affects cooperatives.

In Germany, the banking sector is characterized by more than 1,000 small and medium sized regional cooperative banks that are strongly affected by the high amount of difficult EU regulation. To give an example, a cooperative bank with 300 employees is obliged to register 108 agents and advisors with the regulatory authorities.

It is not reasonable that small and middle-scaled banks have to fulfill the same regulatory requirements as big and internationally active banks, especially given the fact that regional banks did not cause any problems during the financial and economic crisis but rather helped the economy to recover by providing loans. Therefore, the diversity of banks has to be considered in further legislation. Disproportional regulation has to be avoided.

We do not share the European Commission's position that the traditional strong reliance on bank sources for financing is an obstacle for the availability of financial resources for enterprises. German cooperative banks constantly provide - also during the financial and economic crisis - reliable loans and financing instruments for enterprises. Currently, there is a lack of long-term financing in several EU member states because of high economic uncertainty and limited capabilities of the banking system in peripheral member states.

As capital market financing is too expensive and complex for most SMEs due to regulation (e.g. reporting and disclosure obligations), banks will remain the major financing source for SMEs. We therefore object to any promotion of capital market financing.

Concerning the new financial instrument of crowdfunding, we feel the need to emphasize the high risk involved for investors as potentially the whole capital invested can be lost. Therefore, the promotion of crowdfunding shall not be prioritized before investor and consumer protection is secured.

4 - Promoting market access for SMEs

4.1 How important are the following initiatives in improving access to the EU single market for SMEs?

	Very important	Important	Less important	Not important at all
Upgrading the Enterprise Europe Network by developing local cooperation with SMEs stakeholders & providing new services*	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Setting up a European Resource Efficiency Excellence Centre to inform & advise SMEs & provide support on this field*	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Helping some 100 less-advanced cluster organizations to develop customised support services for SMEs through twinning schemes with advanced cluster organizations - by 2020*	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

4.2 Developing an integrated Commission strategy to help SMEs do business outside the EU (to increase the percentage of such firms up to 20% by 2020)*

The promotion and funding of founders has to be neutral in terms of the legal form of enterprises. Often, founding initiatives are aimed at private limited companies only. Therefore, founders who plan to found a cooperative cannot benefit from funding. The legal form of cooperatives has to be considered a.) in the promotion and counselling for start-ups and young entrepreneurs by official authorities and b.) in funding and support programmes.

6 - Boosting skills development

6.1 How important is to launch a Commission initiative, comprising employment, education & enterprise dimensions, to overcome the shortage of skilled labour by promoting the following measures?
