

A strong European policy to support Small and Medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and entrepreneurs 2015-2020

Public consultation on the Small Business Act (SBA)

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction & background

Since its adoption in 2008, the Small Business Act (SBA) has proven its worth as a policy tool in support of the small and medium enterprises (SMEs). Various initiatives have been taken at both EU and national level to improve the environment in which these businesses operate and help them grow.

It is now time to reflect on what can be done in the years that lie ahead to make life easier for SMEs.

The Commission has drafted a consultation document including the on-going measures and the new proposals (see the link below).

This consultation is designed to collect feedback on the new initiatives set out in the consultation document.

Please read it before you complete the questionnaire.

Regarding 2.1.4, (discharge period for bankrupt entrepreneurs), BUSINESSEUROPE calls for the Member States to implement the Commission Recommendation of 12.3.2014.

Launching an EU-wide campaign to cut red tape for SMEs (2.2. above) should be done in close coordination with the national stakeholder forums for better regulation, which already have launched several campaigns to collect new proposals on better regulation. BUSINESSEUROPE suggests establishing a platform for stakeholders' generated proposals on how to make concrete burden reductions. The platform could be part of a revised mandate for the two existing High Level Groups on Better Regulation and Administrative Burdens. The proposals should be subject to a 'comply-or-explain' principle i.e. the Commission should publish its responses, clearly stating which proposals it intends to pursue, and explaining why some proposals will not be subject to further consideration.

Regarding 2.1.2 (licenses), BUSINESSEUROPE underlines that establishing efficient "one stop shops" for SMEs is a prerequisite for issuing technical licenses within 30 days.

The annual SBA Factsheets should be developed more independently. At the moment civil servants within the national governments are able to highlight their version of the process. More focus should be kept on setting up a proper hearing process among businesses and business organisations on the draft SBA factsheets. The SME Envoy network could be used systematically in that matter.

Efforts to develop & spread mezzanine finance (see 3.3.2) should lead to integrate mezzanine finance into existing national finance schemes. The Commission should take actions aimed at facilitating SME access to the capital markets (i.e. through dissemination of best practices, cutting red tape, incentives).

The Commission should also encourage banks and financial institutions to adequately value intangible SME assets (such as a patent or a brand) in the assessment of their creditworthiness.

More recommendations are included in BUSINESSEUROPE's strategy paper of Dec. 2014 on the EU SME policy.

Upgrading the Enterprise Europe Network by developing local cooperation with SMEs stakeholders (4.1.1): we insist that "SME Stakeholders" should mean business organisations as well.

Commission strategy to help SMEs do business outside the EU (4.2.a): for many SMEs, cooperating with other SMEs can help reducing the costs of access to markets. The Commission has already recognized the merits of some SME aggregation models, like clusters (which the EU supports also with training programmes for cluster managers) and business networks. Other aggregation models exist, like export consortia. The Commission should keep all these models in mind when designing initiatives aimed at helping SMEs do business outside the EU.

The Commission should encourage Member States and regions to implement measures to enhance specific managerial skills for SMEs with the aim of strengthening their ability to access external markets. (e.g. vouchers for export managers).

Exploring targeting policy measures to mid-range companies to help them expand their international business (4.3): we understand that the Commission wanted to take advantage of the SBA internet consultation for collecting reactions about an issue related to mid-range companies. In the design of the future EU SME policy, there should however be full clarity. It would not be appropriate to include, in the future SBA, proposals of specific measures addressing companies which do not fall under the classification of SMEs.

Qual. standards/linking platforms: need to integrate these ideas with existing national online platforms for bus. transfers, to avoid low awareness of new EU-initiatives on bus. transfer.

Matching platform for universities: useful to increase knowledge on challenges linked to transfer of bus. across countries.

Promotion of bus. management innovative models - lean organisation, etc: to be done not only in new cluster strategy, but also in wider perspective, cfr new (broader) concept of innovation.

Commission should also:

- Set specific criteria to identify “innovative SMEs” (R&D investment, number of patents, of researchers). Goal: better focus nat./regional incentives and tailor-made solutions on innovative SMEs; give automatic access to these incentives if appropriate
- encourage MS to promote SME investments in innovation through automatic and structural tax incentives (tax credit for RDI or full deductibility of R&D expenditure)
- Encourage partnerships among startups and existing SME to share/spread technologies/innovations in production systems
- promote development of business ecosystems (existing/new) where companies of all sizes obtain higher added value through interaction
- map industrial networks/ecosystems in EU to see how to improve support to industrial frontrunners
- to support business ecosystems: promote agreements with banking sector so that companies (and subcontractors) have access to credit at the same conditions as the leading companies.

6 - Boosting skills development

A dual system in vocational training*	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
