

Market Surveillance programme 2014

Finland	Marine Equipment Directive 96/98/EC as amended
Authority	Finnish Transport Safety Agency P.O.Box 320, FI-00101 Helsinki www.trafi.fi Puh. 029 534 6500
Surveillance	Surveillance is divided to reactive and proactive. Reactive surveillance is based on notifications, inspection findings or requests from other authorities. Proactive surveillance is carried out at the trade shows.
Communication	Information bulletins (press releases) about possible dangerous products. Information bulletins (press releases) about the results of market surveillance activities. Informing the interest groups.
Development	Development of the Directive and legislation involved, especially in IMO, EU and locally. Following the research within the field. Development of practices, processes and tools.
Training	Market surveillance training for new personnel. Advanced training for market surveillance personnel. Training of interest groups.
Other	Cooperation with customs authority. Cooperation with local authorities and other market surveillance authorities (EMSA, MarED, USCG).